National Service Scheme (NSS)

The National Service Scheme (NSS) is a voluntary public service program for students, which aims to develop their personality through community service. NSS activities are organized by educational institutions, and the program is coordinated at the national level by the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports, Government of India. Government College of Engineering Karad NSS unit has capacity of 100 Volunteers.

Objectives: The NSS aims to foster social consciousness, provide opportunities for students to work with and understand community issues, and contribute to the overall development of society.

Eligibility: Typically, undergraduate and postgraduate students in Indian educational institutions are eligible to join NSS.

Enrollment: Students can enroll in NSS during their academic tenure. The program often has a limited number of slots, and interested students may need to apply or undergo a selection process.

Activities: NSS activities involve various community service initiatives, such as environmental conservation, health and hygiene campaigns, blood donation drives, educational programs for underprivileged children, and more.

Duration: NSS volunteers are required to serve for a specific number of hours during their academic year.

Rewards and Recognition: NSS volunteers may receive certificates and recognition for their participation and contributions to society through the program.
